Add News/Blog Articles to your Joomla site

Login to the front end of your web site

Every site will have a different login option, yours may be similar to this or available from a visible or secret link. If your site has members, each member has a certain access level to your site so that a basic member will not be able to add or edit content, but you as the site owner can.

After you have successfully logged in you will be greeted ;)

The Article Manager link will appear if you have logged in with credentials that allow for you to manage articles/posts on your web site.

"Read More"

Most often, News/Blogs have an introduction and then you are prompted to "read more". This allows for several teasers to load on one main page so users can select information they are interested in. Insert your curser right behind the content where you would like this break to be and click on the Read More icon in the JCE editor tools pane.

Oops ! did you make a mistake?

Most sites have the previous 10 versions of your article saved. Once your article has been saved for the first time, previous versions are available by clicking "Versions" at the bottom of the editor screen.

The Version pop up window

You can preview previous versions as well as compare them to the current version. You can also choose to "Keep Forever" a version. To restore a previous version, checkmark the box and click on Restore. Be sure to save the article.
